Local Rinks Attend Wainwright 'Spiei

The local men who took in the Wainwright Bonselpi came back with a very favorable report of the treatment accorded to them in the Buffalo town. It was a good bonselpi, and they had a good time. The spiei was well managed and the Wainwright boys are a good sporty bunch who looked after their visitors well.

Chauvin was represented by C G. Forryan; A. E. Kelth; J. Rinde; and J. A. Code (skip).

Ribstone was represented by A. Wilde; L. L. Pound; M. D. Nicholson; and E. Dell (skip).

The rougher ice at Wainwright was a serious handicap to both Chauvin and Ribstone. They lost considerable in the earlier part of the spiei through this cause. As they became accustomed to that condition they improved their records and Chauvin came home with second prize in the Calgary Brewing contest. Ribstone bringing home the third prize in the same event.

Lunch was served at midnight, and dancing was continued until the morning hours.

St Jean Baptist U.F.A.

"Yes, we had a grand old time," reported some of the visitors to the dance given by the St. Jean Baptist U.F.A., a week ago. "There was a good crowd there, and plenty of fun for everyone" said our informant. "I will surely be there to take in the next one they have."

Grain Tank That Carries 200 Bushels Made By Local Man

An important step toward the solution of the hauling proposition has been found by Lars Swanson. He has a large quantity of grain to haul each season, and a long way to haul it. A year ago he designed a new form of wagon box for use on the big hauls. His new box has now been in use for two hauling seasons and is found perfectly satisfactory. Three similar boxes have been constructed by his neighbors (Anderson Brothers, and Jack Shell) and have given similar satisfaction.

Lars Swanson now hauls a load of two hundred bushels of wheat, or two hundred and twenty-five bushels of oats each time he goes to Artland. This mind you over hilly trails where sidehills are more than usually numerous. Yet he finds his new box carries the loads well, and is actually safer than the standard box ordinarily used. (The weight being low set and well balanced).

It is of course, not possible for us to furnish complete specifications, but we are able to give you an approximate idea of how Swanson made his new style grain box.

He used the standard box-board and castings of the ordinary wagon box. The bottom, front and end he has rebuilt to a six foot width. Being a skillful blacksmith he has replaced the rods, chins etc., with longer ones of his own workmanship.

The standard box sleigh is also used. Swanson having replaced the standard bunks with wider ones.

Swanson has made a great improvement in his grain tank by extending the floor of his box out towards the front far enough to provide a step upon which he may ride, or if walking (as he frequently does) he can cross from side to side and at all times have complete control of the horses.

The hauling question will be made much easier, if there were more of this style of box on the road. Two seasons work has proven this box to be perfectly satisfactory.

INQUISITIVE

Community Halls Are Proving Their Value

The Purpose and Usefulness of A Community Hall is Outlined And Its Advantages To Every District Are Described

Half a dozen districts are already organized in Saskatchewan for the purpose of building Community Halls and have become incorporated under The Agricultural Co-Operative Associations Act of this Province, according to W. Waldron, of the Co-Operation and Markets' Branch of the Saskatchewan Department of Agriculture who has contributed as follows:

Developing a Rural Community

The principal underlying community efforts being co-operation it is astonishing, once a start has been made in some one particular line, no matter how small, how quickly other suggest themselves. Boys and girls' club work embracing calf rearing, hogs, poultry and garden produce sooner or later suggests the importance of finding a market for such products and further the necessity of marketing upon an improved system. The boys' and girls' club thus becomes an agent but do the adult members of the community realize that a facility is thus placed upon themselves?

Let it suffice, for my purpose, to assume that interest has been aroused and the possibilities of co-operation recognised. A home should be provided where these new projects can be dealt with and the community idea takes root much more quickly and appears more forcibly when it has a roof above its head.

In the States it has been found that with a community hall as a common meeting ground many more projects for the financial and social uplift of the district are launched and as Mr. Galpin, of the office of Farm Management, Washington most aptly puts it "the community house is a tangible symbol of rural society."

The Community Centre

To reside in a community that has no central home of its own is to live under unsatisfactory conditions.

A community that moves from pillar to post, from church to school house for social and business gatherings lacks cohesion and progress, if there is any, is slow. The objection is raised that community life can only be built up at the expense and possible sacrifice of home life. In actual practise the objection has no support. The atmosphere of true home life has beneficial and far reaching results but the prosperity or otherwise of a community is undoubtedly reflected in the farm homes and therefore the home life is the direct gain from successful community effort.

A well organized community with one big aim, namely, the general advancement of that particular district well, through its subcommittees have every phase of rural life and work cared for by those most able to handle the subject.

These committees should be divided

Ruby, The Wheat For The North

Ruby Wheat has been found to equal Marquis in miling value, and a five-year test at the Lacombe Experimental Station has shown this wheat to be eleven days earlier than Red Bobs. This great difference in time of maturing, would as a general rule, in the area north of the Red Deer mean the difference between a frosty crop and a good crop.

Another great advantage in favor of Ruby Wheat is that, in the semi-timbered areas of Northern Alberta it is generally more free from pie-bald or starchy grains and for this reason would grade better. Ruby Wheat is much easier to thresh than Marquis, and the usual losses in threshing are minimized. Ruby is a seedless variety with pointed head, and is distinguished by the color of the straw which takes on a purple shade below the heads just before maturity. This is a cross-bred wheat from Downy Riles and Red Pile, by Dr. Chase Saunders.

Great emphasis can be laid on the value of Ruby Wheat for Northern Alberta because it is the earliest high yield that offers other advantages that and the great difference in time of ripening between this variety and the sorts generally grown, make it best for these parts. In buying registered seed you get reliable seed, grown under the rules of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association. This seed is inspected be-

Non-Taxpayers Will Not Now Lose The Right Of Voting

Amendments to the Municipal District Act, which will make it possible for owners of property in towns, villages and rural municipalities to vote at the annual elections without the requirement of the payment of taxes, will be introduced by the Hon. R. G. Reid, Minister of Municipalities, at the present session of the House, according to an announcement made by him. He is now being prepared to this effect.

If these amendments are approved by the House, they will take effect in time for the elections in rural municipalities on February 27th. In the case of towns and villages, the elections have already been held, but the amendments will apply to these later for the elections next December.

Small Advt Fetches Even Sleigh Dogs

The efficiency of a small advertisement is most surprising. Quite recently a person advised for sleigh dogs—surely a scarce enough commodity in this district—and in a few days had all the dogs he wanted and was driving his team down the Chauvin streets. He got answers from as far afield as Edmonton in regard to his advertisement in the Chauvin Chronicle.

Wainwright Member Extols Constituency Parliament Opening

In seconding the speech from the throne on Friday last in the Provincial house Mr. J. R. Love U.F.A. Wainwright made his maiden speech. He referred to Wainwright as the "future of centre of the continent." His remark that "it was regrettable to lose the Hon. Charles Stewart, but I feel that he will be rendering a greater service to the country in his new capacity," elicited applause from both sides of the house and incidentally the galleries.

Mr. J. R. Love declared the natural resources of the province was its natural birthright and their return should be easily demanded. For a number of years governments of this province have been striving for their return, and not until this undeniable right is returned to the western provinces will there be contentment. The speaker referred to the slogan of the Edmonton Board of Trade as showing the trend of the people of this province.

The Wainwright member outlined several of the more important natural resources of the province. The fact that Alberta possesses 15 per cent. of the world's coal reserve supply and 87 per cent. of the coal reserve of the dominion. It had been estimated that in the northern sands there were some 30,000,000,000 barrels of oil awaiting a process of extraction. "Enough oil" the speaker said, "to last the world at the present rate of consumption for six centuries."

The vast soil beds of the north should be developed, as salt was being shipped to the west, the freight costing far more than the salt itself.

In the matter of highway construction. Mr. Love desired that as far as possible all phases of the patronage system should be eliminated in building of roads. He believed that much money would be saved the province if none but expert advice be obtained, and that a highway commission would go far towards solving the highways problem.

"We should see that schools in the remote districts of the province which are difficult to finance locally should be kept open as long as they are in cities, and that the government should assist them financially," Mr. Love said. "The necessity for educating, thoroughly, the youth of the province was a paramount issue. Also some means should be devised to bridge the gap existing between the high schools and the university. He paid a great tribute to the work the University of Alberta was doing, and remarked that it is the fifth largest university in the dominion, and it is now recognised among the universities of the world."

Now is the time to see that your harness is properly oiled and ready for the spring work. You cannot do better than to bring your harness in to John Tanning at G. W. Alton's store Chauvin and let him fix it up

Quite a few folk are talking "early spring"—Whilst not over enthusiastic over the cold weather, we do not regard an early spring as a good sporting proposition.

Boldly ventured is half-won

Oddfellows And Rebekahs Social

The Oddfellows and Rebekahs held their monthly joint social evening on Wednesday last. Songs from Mrs. Keith, Mr. W. Culbert and Mr. D. W. Parcells. Music was supplied by Mrs. Parcells, Mrs' McNutt and Mrs. Keith. Some dances were indulged in at intervals, the greater part of the evening, however, was spent in round games in which everyone heartily joined. Full justice was done to the lurch which was served by the Rebekahs. The gathering dispersed at half past twelve, after singing "Auld Lang Syne". The best social yet, was the feeling expressed by all.

Borrowing is the mother of trouble

Heavy Draft Class Or General Purpose

A proposal has gone in to the Agricultural purpose class at the fair and replace it by a heavy draft class. By this arrangement all horses weighing over 1500 lbs would be classed as heavy draft, and all horses weighing over 1200 or 1300 lbs would be classed as Agricultural.

After 12 years draft horse breeding we have very few General purpose horses left.

What do you think of it?

The agricultural Society are making plans to launch a membership drive in the near future. Further particulars will be announced shortly

THE TELEPHONE SITUATION

It has been a great task for the residents of this district to get anything like an adequate telephone service. To get the line extended to Chauvin in the years past was a very work for those promoting the venture—and to get the rural lines established needed the enterprise of the citizens working on their own behalf and with their own resources and capital. This is true of the Manitou Lake; Roros; and Leatholme lines.

The Manitou system is seriously handicapped by having no trunk connections. The Saskatchewan government promise only been built to Winter. A simple request as to which of five purposes the money should be used for. Each of these five purposes are obligations of the government.

If the Veterans are entitled to the money it simply remains to devise a method of distribution. If on the other hand the government wants the line was last year extended eastward and is constructed to within one mile of the boundary line. Everything is in readiness for the construction of that mile when the season opens and the Saskatchewan government fulfill their pledge.

CANTEN FUND
DISPOSAL

Of 400,000 returned soldiers in Canada only some 50,000 replied with the ballot regarding the disposal of the canteen funds surplus. The government is now at a loss as to what to do with these funds.

It is not to be wondered at that there should have been so small a ballot response by the Veterans. They regarded that the late ballot was a simple request as to which of five purposes the money should be used for. Each of these five purposes are obligations of the government.

If the Veterans are entitled to the money it simply remains to devise a method of distribution. If on the other hand the government wants the money for purposes of its work, the Veterans do not feel like stepping in and dictating in the matter.

Whose money is it? If it's the Veterans', let their organization have the money to be used for a purpose upon which they may agree.

A DELICATE

"Tell your ladies in town" said a friend friend to the editor the other day, "that the ladies from the country would enjoy going to town more if the town ladies were more sociable and would speak more freely to the visitors from the country."

There's a good force of argument in our friends pointed remark. It shows very clearly that some of the reticence we nearly all possess must be put aside. In our own humble opinion it is reticence rather than pride, that prevents us speaking to each other more freely. Folks from town and country after awhile find there are some bores that will not return a "Good Day" greeting and it's accompanying smile of recognition. Speaking personally we have noted that about ten per cent of the men will make no response to a greeting or smile of recognition. Ninety per cent, however will respond with a varying degree of cordiality. We are forced to presume that something of the same proportion maintains among the ladies. On this assumption, we ask should the ten per cent set our rule of conduct? There can only be one answer—"No"

The country lady coming to town in winter and measure feels it to be a special occasion. Her visit breaks a monotony that is greater than the monotony of town life—hence the value of a smile, a handshake, and a kindly greeting.

Now, my country friend, "do not entertain the idea that the town ladies are proud, haughty, silent and unapproachable—they are not. On the other hand, they are the reverse. The majority of them, a doing a great deal more in a quiet manner, in the way of giving welcome to visitors, We are of the opinion that a mutual reticence, which is not to be harshly condemned, is the root of the trouble our country friends wishes to see removed. The effort must come, and come in an easy natural manner from both sides, than is commonly supposed, or is apparent.

Dominion Will Supply
Five Million Trees

Five million trees are being distributed among the farmers of the three prairie provinces from the Dominion Forestry Farm for planting in the spring of 1922, according to an announcement published by Norman M. Ross, superintendent of the farm.

To secure these trees, Mr. Ross points out, it is necessary to have applications sent to him to Indian Head before March 1, 1922. The applications are required to be made a year ahead, in order that the department may be satisfied that a years preparation of the soil is made before the trees are put into the ground on the farms.

HE KNEW

A teacher read aloud to her class from a printer:

"This is a cow. Can the cow run as fast as the horse? No, the cow cannot run as fast as the horse."

"Now, Johnnie," she asked, "Can you tell me about it in your own words?"

The little fellow said:
"Git onto de cow. Ain't she a beauty? Can she hum herself as fast as de horse? Nit, she ain't in it wif de horse."

Bill says, "A soft answer turneth away wrath, but a prompt one might have prevented it."

You who appreciate good things, character and quality, will be pleased with our new Spring and Summer fashions.

tainments and questions relating to health. Duplication of effort should be avoided.

Community efforts widen the vision. Men get to know each other better and the spirit of co-operation leads them to undertake projects that they could never have attempted single handed.

Secretary Houston, of the United States Department of Agriculture says, "Farming must pay and rural life must be made attractive and healthful. School's with instruction properly related to rural life must exist."

Teachers setting forth to take up schools in rural districts should be well informed on all matters pertaining to community life. It is in the interests of the teaching profession generally in city, town and village that the problems of rural life be elated. It is not sufficient to keep the rural boy or girl on the farm, there is room there, too, for the youth from the towns.

An attractive and progressive community with facilities provided as outlined above will hold the youth fortunate enough to be residing there and will build within itself, the means of attracting others.

Incorporation. If the association or social thus formed becomes incorporated the financial liability of the individual is limited and incorporation, placing the undertaking on a businesslike footing at the outset, is well worthy of consideration.

The fees for registering such an association under the Agricultural Co-operative Associations Act of Saskatchewan are $1.00 only. The objects for which an association is formed could read in the memorandum of association as follows: "To produce, purchase, or sell live stock farm products or supplies on the co-operative plan. That community breeding of live stock shall be adopted and the standardization of farm products undertaken. To promote the educational, financial, social and moral welfare of the community. To property on the co-operative plan and to use the same as a club room or for entertainments and business purposes."

Incorporation is not a vital necessity but it is certainly advisable for a community to avail itself of the advantages it has to offer.

There is need in Saskatchewan for the development of the community idea. It can be made profitable from a money making point of view and the community spirit will make men and women better citizens, better housekeepers and boys better farmers.

Notes From North East

One notes with regret, that the annual meetings this year have been productive of much unpleasantness, one can almost say rowdiness. This could have been understood if there had been any real cause, but the majority of the complaints were frivolous and nonsensical. Where you most expected some sort of a row things passed off most amicably, and where peace to reign supreme, war was openly declared. This state of affairs is most unfortunate, and it makes one consider whether it would not be much better if these local bodies were taken over by the municipal school districts and a flat rate imposed over the whole municipality.

Mr. R. Vickers (S.S.B. Supervisor) has been visiting the soldier-settlers of this district regarding plans for the year work.

One of the greatest arguments in favor of the re-establishment of the wheat board is the present rise in the price of wheat, after nearly all of it has been sold.

Messrs. P. M. Chapman and K. W. Coe are in Regina attending the Grain Growers convention in that city. They will also review the telephone department re long distance connection. Hopes hoping they succeed in their mission.

The Fram Grain Growers will hold their usual monthly meeting on March 4th, and hope to hear the report of their delegates to the convention.

Also the wish to thank the ladies for their successful efforts at the dinner recently held.

Don't forget to be at Learig on Friday evening or you will miss something worth while.

The Manitou Lake Ladies Aid held their usual monthly meeting last members present owing to the inclement weather. To correct an error it is necessary to state that Mrs. Matt. Foran is the Sec.-Treas., and not, as reported, Mrs. E. Foley. It is proposed to hold a dance in the near future, so watch for the date. A grant of $25.00 was made to a needy family in the district.

LEARIG DRAMATIC SOCIETY

This society is staging its Annual entertainment on Friday February 17 and one which promises to be unique in its history. Preparations have been made in order to give the public one of the very best shows "this ever was", and it is to be sincerely hoped that their efforts will be successful, financially and in every other way. The proceeds are in aid of next years Christmas Tree, and the Society are hopeful of their entertainment being a bumping success. A splendid program has been arranged including songs, recitations and plays, so come along and have a good time, and help a worthy cause. Learig School February 17th. at 88 o'clock.

CHAPTER VI

COURTS OF LAW IN THE PROVINCES—Continued COURTS.

Besides the courts of superior and inferior jurisdiction mentioned above, there are others of a special nature. The probate courts of the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island, known also as surrogate courts in Ontario and judge, and have power to deal with matters relating to the wills of deceased persons, or the administration of the effects of persons who leave no such will.

The word "probate" shows the character of the duties of this court; its principal function is to prove, from the latin word "probare" to prove—that a will is legally executed, and is the last will of the testator. But its jurisdiction extends to other testamentary matters and causes, the subject to appeal to the superior courts.

In Quebec the law of wills is quite different, and the jurisdiction in probate matters rests with the superior courts.

In British Columbia the county courts have jurisdiction up to matters involving $2,500, and the supreme court beyond that amount. In Ontario and Manitoba the county judges are the surrogate judges, and in Nova Scotia the probate jurisdiction is gradually being transferred to the county court judges.

COURTS OF DIVORCE

At the dates when they became part of Canada there existed in the provinces of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, British Columbia and Prince Edward Island, courts with power to deal with such causes as their respective laws allowed, and this power still continues but there were no such courts in the rest of what is now the Dominion of Canada and as under the British North America Act the parliament of Canada has sole power to deal with the subject of marriage and divorce, and it has never created any divorce court in the provinces of Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan or in the Northwest and Yukon Territories the only way in which divorce can be obtained there is to get a special act of the parliament of Canada dissolving the marriage. Applications for such legislation are made in the first instance to the senate which has a special committee and special rules for the purpose.

There are also a number of other courts with limited or special jurisdiction such as Election courts with limited contested elections. Courts of revision to act as courts of appeal in revising the rolls for the assessment of taxes. The heir and divorce court unpunished land and the o-a f-o of Ontario to determine claims to unpunished land and the various inferior courts for the administration of the criminal law such as the Police courts and the other courts with summary jurisdiction.—A summary trial is a trial by judge or magistrate without a jury.

PROCESS

Every court gives effect to its powers by means of proceeding (process) jurisdiction and in its rules of practice forth in the statute defining its title. In civil actions, process is of various kinds.

1. A writ of summons to compel a defendant to appear before a court.
2. A Subpoena, or summons to witnesses to appear and give evidence in a suit or be subject to a penalty or sanction of subpoena.
3. Summons to jurors to appear at a trial.
4. Execution of judgement, or order of a court, besides other proceedings not necessary to mention here.

A warrant is a guarantee or protection (the original meaning of an old French word (warrant) of the person executing it that he has authority for so doing. It is by warrants that persons charged with crime may be brought before a magistrate and committed to prison, and other processes necessary in civil and criminal cases executed.

SHERIFF AND OFFICERS OF THE COURTS

The most important officer in the execution of process of law is the sheriff, he is appointed by the lieutenant-governor in council in the provinces. One sheriff is appointed for every county or judicial district in a province. Here again we have an other example of our close adherence to old English names. The sheriff was in Saxon times the judicial president of the (scir-gemot), or assembly (gemot) of the shire (scir), one of the divisions of the English kingdom. He was the "reeve" or headman of the shire, the self-governor, which title in the course of centuries being shirked to short.

In Norman times the shire became a county, and its government, judicial, military, and financial, was largely in the hands of the sheriff, who was directly responsible to the king.

In the course of time the sheriff and became little more than an officer of the courts, though he preserved remnants of his ancient powers in connection with elections and the preservation of peace and order.

He is now in Canada an officer of the superior courts, whose orders, sentences, and judgements are carried out under his direction, even to the execution of the criminal. He summons juries, has charge of the jails and their keepers. He appoints his own deputies and officers and is registrars of high or surrogate courts negligence in executing the process of the courts. He gives security for the proper performance of his duties.

In connection with the courts there is also a large body of officers, known as county crown attorneys, clerks of the peace, deputy clerks of the crown, probrothatories. (From two Greek words, meaning a first notary or clerk). county court clerks registrars of high or surrogate courts and others, all of whom are appointed by the government of a province to perform special duties in connection with the administration of justice.

CONSTABLES AND BALIFFS

The name of constable, now one of the lower officers goes back to early Norman times, when it represented an office of high dignity, which noles were proud to hold.

All constables are "peace officers" and serve summons and warrants of the proper courts.

In cities they are known as policemen. They can arrest persons who break the law in their presence, and bring them before the proper court at the earliest movement. Otherwise they act only under an order from a magistrate, sheriff, or court. In times of threatened riot or disturbance, special constables are appointed to preserve the peace.

Constables are appointed by the judges of sessions, or magistrates, or municipal councils, or police commissioners, as the law may provide. In some provinces there are also baliffis, who serve the writs and other process of the courts, make seizures and arrests and perform other minor duties.

OFFICE OF CORONER

The office of coroner also goes back to early English times, when he as a royal officer appointed to look after the peace and interests of the crown (Latin: "corona," thence coroner) in a special district allotted to him. It is now his duty to enquire into the cause of the death of a person who is killed, or dies suddenly, or in prison.

When the circumstances of the case require an investigation, he summons a jury, calls witnesses, and holds an "inquest" on view of (after seeing) the body of the deceased. Upon the facts disclosed a verdict is given by the jury. Persons may be charged with murder, manslaughter, or culpable negligence, according to the nature of the death.

When a coroner's "inquisition" (or inquiry or investigation) charges a person with manslaughter or murder, he must issue a warrant to bring the accused immediately before a magistrate or justice, who will proceed to make inquiry into the case with a view to committing the accused for trial if the facts require it.

Coroners are also to investigate the origin of fires, when the circumstances pointed to inconsideration, but this duty is now generally entrusted to officers specially appointed or designated for that duty.
